Will Not Prosecute Delaney

Word has just reached Blairmore that the attorney-general of the province has ordered that the case against one Frank Delaney, who deliberately held up the clerk and robbed the Cosmopolitan hotel on the night of Thanksgiving, be dropped and that no further proceedings in the case be taken.

Delaney, it will be remembered, was not carrying out the duties of his office as a "spotter" when he in cold blood entered the office of the Cosmopolitan hotel and drew a gun on the clerk who was peacefully performing his duties, and at the same time making libelous charges and using language that only the lowest and vilest could be guilty of.

Delaney was employed as a spotter in the enforcement of the provisions of the Liquor Act, and his actions were not those of a sane or responsible individual. In the interests of law and order and for public protection it was necessary to lay a charge of holdup and robbery against him, and in a legally constituted court evidence to prove the charges was submitted by about a dozen respectable citizens of this province and British Columbia, and the case as presented was such as to more than warrant the judge's action in remanding Delaney for trial. Delaney was remanded for trial, and now the attorney-general in a kaiser capacity has willed that a would-be criminal be set free.

As we have previously intimated, there is no necessity for a band of plain clothes spies to detect the presence of and traffic in liquor.

when a stupid mule can enter the wide-open door and without money and without price obtain a drink. If our resident police have not the powers or are not in a position to enforce the Liquor Act, or if their duties do not call for the maintenance of law and order and the suppression of crime, then there is need for police reform. At the present time the foremost question with the different police factions is how to avoid treading upon the other's territory.

The liberation of Delaney from the charge preferred against him on this occasion will no doubt have its telling effect at some future date, for if an employee of the attorney-general feels that his actions will be defended by his employer, he need not stop at the mere threat to shoot.

"Clean Up" a Fiasco.

Anyone resident in the Crows' Nest Pass and knowing conditions cannot but regard the recent cleanup raids as a real fiasco. In the first place, the question may reasonably be asked: "Why discrimination?" for it is a known fact that some of the most wide open bootleg joints throughout the district were kept at a safe distance by the raiders. Another question asked is: "Why acquit a party who has been convicted on the evidence of spotters, to offset the possibility of a criminal charge of perjury being laid against the spotter?" This has been done. Delaney was to face a charge of perjury with sufficient evidence to convict.

Sound Financing All Round

The Great War brought about many developments and revealed many hitherto unsuspected powers in Canada. This Dominion was discovered as being capable of wielding a military strength and prowess undreamed of by itself or any other people. It demonstrated its ability to produce munitions of war on a scale of great magnitude. Even under adverse conditions, its productive capacity in all directions was shown to be almost beyond measure when all its people were called upon to sacrifice, serve and work.

But probably Canada's most unexpected and amazing strength was revealed in its ability to finance itself even under the enormous obligations and expenditures which war forced upon it. Before the war, Canada was a borrowing nation, and a borrowing nation on a large scale. The idea of Canada raising from among its own people the money necessary to carry on government and the large expenditures required for development purposes of a national character never suggested itself to the Canadian people. Federal and Provincial Governments, municipalities and large corporations were content to float their bonds and sell their debentures in Great Britain and the United States.

The Great War changed all this. At the outset, Canada borrowed from Great Britain; later it borrowed from the United States. During the last three years of the war, however, Canadians themselves supplied their Government with all the money necessary for its operations, and above its requirements to enable it to grant credits to Great Britain and other countries. Year after year the Canadian people furnished the Dominion Government with sums far in excess of the total of Canada's national debt before the war.

This not only contributed greatly to Canada's strength during the war, but since. Tens of millions of dollars which otherwise would have been drained out of the Dominion in the form of interest payments have been distributed among our own people. The cutting of interest bearing coupons has become a commonplace in homes all over the country.

What was proven to be good policy for the Dominion as a whole is being recognized throughout the Prairie Provinces of Canada as good policy for this western country; hence we find that the Governments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta have all devised schemes whereby those of their people who have money to invest may lead it to their respective Governments on guaranteed security, and these Governments reward it to those of their people who are in need of money for development and productive purposes within the Province. As a result, not only is Western money kept in the West, and interest payments thereon earned by Western people, but the money is put to work in the West to further its development and increase its prosperity. And Governments are placed in funds without being obliged to go solely to Eastern and to foreign markets and remit large sums in interest payments to points outside the Province.

Nor is this healthy development, this adding of financial strength and independence to the West, being confined to Provincial Governments. Municipalities are appealing to their own citizens and ratepayers to become the holders of municipal debentures. A gratifying measure of success is attending these efforts—Regina being a notable example where several municipal bond issues have been fully subscribed for by its own citizens.

As a matter of historical fact, even before the Dominion Government adopted the policy of floating popular Victory Loans, the Government of Saskatchewan had inaugurated the policy of going to its own people to provide the money necessary to carry through its Farm Loans plan, and in its appeal upwards of one million dollars was received. Then the Dominion Victory Loans were inaugurated and the Saskatchewan Government withdrew its appeal and held it in abeyance so as not to conflict with the war finance programme of the Dominion. With the war over, and the necessity for Victory Loan campaigns removed, Saskatchewan is again energetically pushing the sale of Farm Loan debentures to its own people.

It is good policy for a citizen to buy the bonds of his own Province or municipality. Unlike the big financial corporations, it is not a money-making venture on the part of these public bodies, nor is the money merged in the intricate and costly financial system of the whole country and the world. The system is administered at once—the lender receiving the highest possible interest rate and the borrower securing his loan at the lowest possible cost.

Through this simple machinery the West is being made more and more economically independent of the East and the big financial corporations, its money is being kept at home, and it is actively at work promoting the further development of the country and increasing the prosperity of all.

Labor Objects to Tax

Luxury Tax on Some Things Has Led to Unemployment.

Not the manufacturers themselves, but the ranks of organized labor are now endeavoring to secure the removal of the luxury tax on certain kinds of production, basing their action upon the ground that its imposition has led to a great deal of unemployment.

The delegation pointed out that more than 650 men employed in these trades were at present out of employment in Toronto, and stated that the manufacturers had given, as their reason for shortened production of these articles of trade that the people would not buy them with the added cost due to the imposition of the luxury tax.

Choosing Coal by The Microscope

Series of Microscopic Tests By Which Various Coals Are Classified.

The selection of the particular coal to give the best results for certain purposes has always been an important matter for the engineer. Today, with the enhanced cost of coal, it has become a vital problem. Hitherto it has been the custom to rely upon open chemical compositions and tests of the heat value of the coal, but the engineer of a leading firm which buys about a quarter of a million tons of coal every year for various uses, confirms the suspicion that something more is needed before the most economical coal in each case can be determined. He has worked out a series of microscopic tests by which various coals are classified, each class being most efficient for steam-raising, or gas production, or some other particular service. The method adopted is to grind the surface of a small sample of coal exceedingly smooth, fix it by the smooth surface to a piece of glass and grind away the remainder until a slice thin enough to transmit light remains on the glass. When examined under the microscope this slice reveals the inner structure of the coal. The behavior of the coal when fixed corresponds to its structure, which thus provides an index to the use which ought to be made of the coal. The same investigator has found that very uniform results are given by samples from the one seam of coal, so that one or two tests are sufficient to determine the qualities of the seam. If this method is developed it will become possible to order coals according to an exact specification, much as is now done with special steels and alloys.

An Always Ready Pill.—To those of regular habit medicine is of little concern, but the great majority of men are not of regular habit. The worry and cares of business prevent it, and out of the irregularity of life comes dyspepsia, indigestion, liver and kidney troubles as a protest. ### Encourage Egg Production

All Provinces Are Competing in Egg-Laying Contest.

Ten egg laying contests were started recently throughout the Dominion under the jurisdiction of the experimental farm system. Two of these contests are located at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and one in each of the other provinces. The two contests at Ottawa are the Canadian Egg Laying Contest and the Ontario Egg Laying Contest, the former being open to the entire Dominion and the latter to the province of Ontario only.

The Canadian contest opened with 50 pens competing for the honors and there are 24 entries in the Ontario contest. It will be a week or two before the final results of the ten days yet before final results of all last year's provincial contests, which closed October 31, are received at headquarters here and a few days more than that before comparisons of these will be available for publication.

Road Engineering Progress

Britain Still Maintains Great Interest In Road Improvements.

In view of the rapid development of road traffic in Great Britain an inspection has been carried out over more than one thousand miles of the principal roads, and careful examination made of all experimental lengths which have been laid on various novel systems of construction. It is anticipated that a sum of at least ten million pounds sterling will be spent within the next future on road making and road improvements. British roads have enjoyed the reputation of being the best, all-round, in the world, and there is every sign that the new methods devised by British road engineers to enable road surfaces to withstand heavy motor traffic will maintain that reputation.

GIRLS! DRAW A

MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Let "Danderine" save your hair and double its beauty

Oh, girls, such an abundance of thick, heavy, invigorated hair; a perfect mass of wavy, silky hair, gloriously fluffy, bright and so easy to manage.

Just moisten a cloth with a little "Danderine" and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this magically removes all dirt, excess oil, and grease, but your hair is not left brittle, dry, stringy or faded, but charmingly soft, with glossy golden gleams and tender lights. The youthful glints, tints and color are again in your hair. "Danderine" is a tonic-stimulant. Besides doubling the beauty of the hair at once, it checks dandruff and falling hair, and keeps the delightful Danderine for a few cents at any drug or toilet counter and use it as a dressing and invigorator as told on the bottle.

From the Diary of A Hudson's Bay Clerk in the Seventies

By O. G. MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

After a hard winter at Sturgeon River, in outpost from Cumberland House, I at last shipped the winter's fur by York Boat to headquarters, and now for my holiday as I had planned, a hunting trip up the Sturgeon. The party was to consist of an Indian and his family in one large bark canoe and myself in a small bark just large enough for one man and his outfit.

At last we were off, and I looked back at the log shacks we had wintered in with delight at the thought of never seeing them again, for gentle reader, it had been a long winter, the chief being fish both for men and dogs. We tracked or killed no venison. One amusing incident happened to break the monotony. About the month of February, if my memory is correct, a dog-train with two weather-beaten travellers arrived. One of these (Owen B. Hughes) was the first Sheriff of Prince Albert in later days, and his companion, a native named Kennedy. At that time Mr. Hughes was in the employ of Stobart, Eden & Co., fur traders, and was travelling from Norway House to Duck Lake. Their snowshoes were worn out and needed re-netting, so the men's wives were set to work at this, and Mr. Hughes became my guest. That evening we had supper, drink and smoked, nothing else but black tea with plenty of sugar, and I am sure he polished off at least half a dozen. For breakfast, appeared a dish of plain boiled suckers, taken out of the river that morning, for we kept five nets under the ice all winter, catching, however, nothing but large red suckers, until spring when sturgeon came in shoals. I could see Hughes' casting hungry glances round the table, but he was too well-bred a man to say anything. For dinner a huge platter (of the old China Willow pattern) with at least twenty sucker heads on it, these, by the way, being much the best part of that fish. Hughes' remark at the end of the meal was, "My, but we did feast, and then I explained the situation. Flour being short that winter, I was limited to a clerk's allowance, two hundred pounds. This I would not eat alone, so just used bread on Sundays, my two men and their families sharing it with me. In after years, meeting Hughes in Prince Albert, we had many a good laugh over this experience.

Our commissariat for the trip was very limited; a small stock of maple syrup which we had obtained by tapping the ash-maple trees in the vicinity, a hole of dried fish, four pounds of tea, a little salt and sugar, with a few pounds of flour for making soup. But our hearts were high and full of hope over the prospect of game, beaver especially, for no one had been up the river for years.

We camped the first night about ten miles out, having started late in the day. Fine paddling, smooth stretches of water with scarcely any current, then a small rapid, generally shallow, up which my small canoe would shoot like a jackfish, while Patrick often had to wade and lighten his heavily laden pack. Fish soup with a little syrup for supper, and then to bed with a determination to kill something edible next day.

We were up again at 2:30 and called all hands; a hasty snack and by noon we had made twenty miles. Here we were lucky in capturing a large sturgeon who was trying to ascend a very shallow rapid. Pushing my canoe ashore I threw myself on the fish and after an exciting struggle, landed him. Results—boiled sturgeon, very good for dinner. Another long hard paddle and we camped at a rapid where beaver signs were everywhere, much success, judging by the remains laying scattered about. The next day, about 4 miles, we passed the mouth of three small creeks and here Patrick found beaver signs and our mouths watering at the prospect of fresh meat. Going about a mile up the main river we pitched our tepee among some large birch trees, there being no underbrush. This was a beautiful camping ground.

After helping to set the tent we returned to the little creeks to watch for beaver, both going in the large canoe, and watch we did until too late to see to bed. Having no luck we made for camp. A wireless system had been arranged between us—when game was sighted the gunwale of the canoe was shaken. Presently I felt the canoe shiver, and on looking up saw the "bank" which here somewhat resembling the water, I could see the dim outline of an animal, so quickly fired. An amazing splash followed and we were deluged with water. Hauling the bag on shore, it turned out to be a large black timber wolf, valuable for his pelt, but alas, not edible.

We here crossed the river and at this time it was my occasion to give the signal, as being in the bow gave me a better lookout. This time a strong wake was visible just ahead of us, and I at once fired where I guessed the head was. A tremendous splash followed and under the impression I had killed a beaver (who will never bite unless you put your hand in his mouth), I grabbed the surf and with some effort threw it into the canoe behind me. And then arose a battle on, for behold, it was a large buck deer. It was only stung by the bullet which glanced on his skull, and it immediately attacked Patrick, who was in the stern. It was too close for him to shoot it, and then he might have got me. After a combat lasting some minutes, he managed to stun it with a large maul that we fortunately had in the canoe for landing sturgeon. Pat was very mad and abused me in his best Cree, and it took up some time to soothe his injured feelings. Finally, on reaching camp, we all had a hearty laugh over it. But the good wife was by no means pleased, as hearing the two shots she had visions of a nice beaver supper and here was only a wolf which was half eating, and other which was worse. Fortunately she or Job (the son) had snared a partridge and a rabbit, and on these we fed frugally and then to bed with a deep vow that we would have something better on the morrow.

Doubt Permanency Of Coal Strike Settlement

Agreement Does Not Ensure the Necessary Rapid Increase in Output.

London.—Commentators on the coal settlement doubt its permanency in its present state. Its terms are too complicated for discussion in a cable, but it can be said that expert opinion shows nervousness because the terms do not appear to provide favorable conditions for that rapid increase in output which the government insists is the country's crying need.

Final figures of the ballot showing as they did an actual majority against settlement, have given cause for disquiet. The miners' federation, however, took the responsibility for calling off the strike, several members declaring that the men would return to work willingly.

The Times sees this much good in the strike—that it has cleared the air and shown many suspicions held by both sides to be too sweeping. Nevertheless, the Times, with other newspapers, betrays a note of fear that the extremists have not been finally dealt with, although there may be peace for some little while.

War Against Soviet Subs

Earl Curzon States British Government Does Not Intend to Run Any Risks.

London.—Replying to the Russian Soviet Government's recent note concerning the operation of submarines by the Soviet navy, Earl Curzon, secretary for foreign affairs, says the British Government's belief in the proposed aggressive action of the submarines was based on a Soviet minister's statement when the submarines were launched in the Black Sea. He hoped they would sink entire vessels.

The British Government, he added, did not feel justified in running any risk and now had found its fears confirmed by the Soviet note which would permit of a Soviet submarine torpedoing a British ship under the excuse of mistaken identity. The note asserts that the Soviet forces in the Black Sea, are still engaged in open hostilities against British interests and says the Soviet Government can end this situation by giving the assurances contained in the British note of October 9.

Problem of the New Canadians

25,000 In Alberta Who Are Unable to Speak the English Language.

Edmonton, Alta.—There are 25,000 adults in the province of Alberta who cannot speak the English language and a great many more who cannot read, was the statement by J. Morgan, supervisor of schools among the new Canadians, in an address before the Northern Alberta Teachers' Association. These thousands of people, he said, should be able to read and write, and the only direct avenue through which this great number can be reached is through night schools for adults in rural communities.

Other speakers were Prof. Malcolm Wallace, of the University of Toronto, and J. W. Barnett, provincial organizer of the Alberta Teachers' Alliance.

Vancouver Cuts Prices.

Vancouver.—A 20 per cent reduction in its prices in about two weeks time is announced by one of the leading local restaurants. The cut is made possible by the reduction in prices of raw materials. Lately there has been noticed a slight decrease in the cost of certain foods.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has issued a report showing the number of each description of farm livestock in Canada on June 15 last as estimated from returns collected by the bureau from individual farmers in conjunction with the Provincial Governments.

This return shows the total number of horses in Canada on that date this year as 3,400,352, while last year it was 3,667,369. Mules number 9,055 as against 15,102 in 1919. Cattle number 9,477,280 as compared with 10,084,913 a year ago, sheep 3,720,783 as compared with 3,421,958 and swine 3,516,678 as compared with 4,040,070 in 1919.

Poultry is 30,505,819 as compared with 34,645,238 a year ago. Rabbits, all in British Columbia, number 21,160 as against 43,050 in 1919. Cattle show a decrease in all provinces, save Prince Edward Island, and horses in all provinces with the exception of Prince Edward Island and British Columbia.

Republican Victory in U.S.

Senator Harding Elected President of Republic by Sweeping Majority.

New York.—One of the most sweeping Republican victories in history stands recorded for Senator Warren G. Harding, for president, and for a Republican Congress.

Defeat in their fight both for the presidency and Congress was conceded early by Democratic national leaders on the basis of the increasing Republican vote. With the presidency and congress went lost to the Democrats of governors, state legislators, and other state and local candidates. The break even threatened their borders states hitherto "solid south," with Republican gains in some southern states larger than any since the civil war.

Senator Harding's victory over Democratic leaders, which many Republicans hailed as the "solemn referendum" upon the League of Nations, was impressive. The result presaged a larger majority in the electoral college for Senator Harding and his running mate, Governor Coolidge, of Massachusetts, than any since 1880, except the vote of 435 for President Wilson in 1912, during the Republican "split."

The Republican congressional swing was as strong, increased majorities in both Senate and House being marked up.

The first trial of woman suffrage contributed largely to the Republican majorities and also was a factor in delaying the count in many states. The millions of women's ballots also swelled the popular vote recorded beyond all records.

Senator Harding accepted his victory without exultation, stating that he was "more given to prayer to God to make me capable of playing my part."

To Governor Coolidge, the next vice-president, he sent a message stating: "We've got a real job and we'll tackle it together."

Compliment to Canada

Empire Press Union Speaks Highly of the Dominion.

London.—Much that was complimentary of Canada's hospitality was said at a luncheon by the Empire Press Union to Lord Burnham, president Imperial Press conference, which toured Canada recently.

Lord Burnham also said that Canada wanted British news in Canadian papers from the British viewpoint, and that the British wanted almost as much Canadian news in the British press from the Canadian viewpoint.

Desperate Bolshevik Offensive

Anti-Soviet Forces Are Fighting to Save Their Winter's Supply of Food.

Schastopol.—General Wrangel's cavalry still is engaged in an attempt to stem the tide of the Bolshevik offensive in Southern Russia. Red airplanes are bombing the narrow railway tracks running from Perekop into the Crimea. Taurida is overrun with Red armies. The Second, Sixth and Thirtieth Armies are in the line, in addition to four divisions of cavalry and other corps of the best of the Red troops. If General Wrangel is able to hold off the Bolsheviks at the Perekop isthmus, he has food enough to last him throughout the winter.

Condemn the Proposed Embargo on Wheat By United States

New York.—The movement afoot in the United States to have an embargo placed on Canadian wheat imports as a medium of increasing the domestic price of wheat received adverse comment in the World. The newspaper says:

"It must be assumed that in appealing to Washington for an embargo on imports of wheat from Canada, the Chicago Board of Trade is animated by the purely altruistic purpose of helping the growers of Kansas and, round about, to corner wheat and boost the farm price and profit, rather than of helping itself to an old-time corner for the benefit of its own crowd."

Nevertheless, the utter futility of this embargo effort ought to be as apparent to the Kansas farmer as it must be to the Chicago speculator. This country is still a producer of wheat beyond its own needs. The price is accordingly fixed, not at home, but in the outside markets, where the exportable surplus goes. Canada has this year grown a wheat crop so large as to leave over 100,000,000 bushels for export, and this surplus will directly or indirectly fall upon the Liverpool wheat market and affect the price for the United States as well as for Canada, just as certainly, whether it is first sold in the United States or first sent to Europe. "Such an embargo as is asked for can have no more effect upon the raising of the Kansas or Chicago price of wheat than the damming up of Behring Strait could raise or lower the depth of the Arctic or Pacific Ocean."

"The federal trade commission is solemnly at work on statistics on Canadian wheat imports in response to the embargo appeals of the Chicago Board of Trade. The committee should be able to find more useful ways of employing its time."

Distributing Naval Prizes

Addresses of Men Entitled to Prize Money Are Wanted.

Ottawa.—The department of naval service is now distributing cheques for naval prize money to men having served with the R.C.N. and R.C.N.V.R. A large number of claims have been paid out, but a great many cheques are still held at the addresses of the recipients are not known, and the department would be glad of advice as to the address of any man entitled to prize money who has not been paid.

Proposed Visit of Lloyd George.

London.—There has been no confirmation of the report that Premier Lloyd George will shortly visit Canada. The Canadian Press is informed that while the premier would certainly appreciate an opportunity of making the visit it was obviously impossible in the present state of affairs to make a definite arrangement on promise for the future.

One Great Essential To a Woman's Health Is Her Nerves

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day is long, instead of being sick and wretched. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung. The trouble is they pay more attention to their social and household duties than they do to their health. It is at this wonder time that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flashes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Millburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired-out, weary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health. Mrs. E. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N.S., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from nerve trouble for years, was weak and nervous. I could not rest at night and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling, had hot flashes and fainting spells. When I was on my second box of Millburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes, when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with their nerves."

Price 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price to The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Decrease in Livestock

Bureau of Statistics Issues Interesting Report on Conditions.

Ottawa.—With the single exception of sheep the total numbers of all descriptions of farm livestock in Canada show a marked decrease this year as compared with last.

An Interesting Booklet

A 70 page booklet entitled "Natural Resources of Nova Scotia" with 16 illustrations and a map has just been issued by the Natural Resources Intelligence Branch of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa. This is the latest of the series dealing with various sections of the Dominion, the booklets previously issued having dealt with New Brunswick, the Peace River, New Manitoba, Saskatchewan, etc.

The opening paragraph of Nova Scotia clearly indicates the object of the series when it says: "The facts in this booklet are compiled for the use of the home-seeker, merchant, manufacturer, capitalist and visitor. They purpose to be up-to-date, authoritative, concise." Each booklet forms a basis of standard official information and is revised as each edition is exhausted.

In the booklet now before us a welcome absence of verbiage allows space for valuable specific facts. Thus there is a list of products shipped from Halifax which could easily be manufactured in Canada; a special section on West Indian and British Guiana trade, details about agriculture, coal, limestone and iron, automobiles, merchant marine, clay, salt, land prices and wages—all subjects of present interest. Statistics are made palatable by an interesting style and suggestive touches.

Nova Scotia is crossing the threshold to great activities, and both to the many native born who left the land in the last generation and to the many about to sail from overseas the booklet will be a reminder that the chances in Nova Scotia are as bright as in its summer beauty.

The "Natural Resources of Nova Scotia" will be sent free by mail on application to The Superintendent, Natural Resources Intelligence Branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

What's Wrong With Canada?

Seeking an answer to the above question, Richard Irving, in the "Former's Advocate," suggests that before we can make Canada an ideal and cheaper place to live in, we may have to live: More overalls and fewer dress suits.

More clay bricks and fewer red bricks. More alarm clocks and fewer "next morning" headaches.

More aprons and less décolleté. More producers and fewer consumers. More democrats and fewer plutocrats. More bank accounts and less oil stock. More real work and fewer short cuts to wealth.

More cheap coal and fewer diamonds. More old-fashioned Christianity and less class snobishness.

More real anxiety to assist humanity and less getting while the getting's good.

Cheap Power for Alberta is Urged

Associated Boards of Trade Take Action to Promote Power Development

Public opinion in Alberta appreciates the fact that the production and distribution of cheap electrical energy is of cardinal importance to general progress and prosperity of the province. At a recent meeting of the Alberta Associated Boards of Trade the following resolution was passed:—

"That in view of the beneficial results in other provinces, we urge on the Provincial Government the extreme importance of the development of cheap power in Alberta, whether from water-power, coal, natural gas, or other source, at the earliest practicable moment."

The urgent necessity of providing for a comprehensive system and policy of power production and distribution in the Prairie Provinces has on a number of occasions been pointed out by the Commission of Conservation. Mr. James White, Deputy Head of the Commission, in a paper read at the Calgary Industrial Congress last year, indicated that the proper future solution of Alberta power problems lies in electric generation from coal in comparatively large super-power central stations properly located both with regard to coal mines and power distribution centres and using small coal that would otherwise be wasted. The paper reviews the various other possible sources as follows:—

"Owing to its unique characteristics, its special adaptability for various purposes, and the possibility of its rapid expansion, natural gas should be seriously considered for use in its sphere of greatest efficiency. In my judgment, this sphere is not the development of power on a wholesale scale.

Hold The Sandwich

A young recruit who was put on sentry go, was nice to his duty. A good natured sargeant brought him a sandwich from the canteen and the recruit was about to eat it when the major appeared. As the officer was so much the sentry did not recognize him and did not salute. The major took in the situation and asked: "What's that?" "A sandwich," replied the recruit; "have a bite?" "Do you know who I am?" asked the major. "Don't know you from a crow; perhaps you are the major's orderly." "No, I'm not." "Higroon, perhaps?" "No, try again." "Perhaps the old chap himself?" "Right this time," said the major. "Oh, good Lord!" exclaimed the frightened recruit. "Hold the sandwich while I present myself."

Hillcrest Happenings (By Felix)

Fred Willett has rented the house formerly occupied by Rees Richards.

Miss Lindblad left on Wednesday for Calgary to attend the teachers' convention.

Jack Dailley has had his annual cattle roundup, bringing in quite a bunch of fine stock.

Steady progress is being made on the house recently transferred here from Frank by J. W. Macken, and being placed near the football grounds.

It is rumored that we are to lose a couple of lady teachers from Hillcrest at the end of the term, and we wonder if any of the young men of Hillcrest are interested.

It is to be hoped a good number will attend the hard times dance to be given on Friday night. It would be refreshing to see a return of the good old days in dancing and social times for Hillcrest.

Quite a few Hillcrest young ladies are leaving to take special commercial and other college courses at Garbutt Business College, Calgary. Among those we have heard mentioned are: Misses Aline Taylor, Dora Mansell, Mary Norton and Hester Stobbs.

Felix is requested to inform all veterans and those who were members of Hillcrest Club at the start, that in the near future a meeting will be called, the object of which will be to determine the real ownership of the club originally started as a vets' and social club, but now in the hands of private parties.

Tom Hamilton returned a few days ago from a trip to the U.S.A. in quest of better pastures. He reports "nothing doing" in that line, hence his return to a district worth while. The surprise is that he has returned single handed, as from all reports circulated at the time of his departure a wedding was all lined up for a certain young lady.

Now that the plebiscite has been recorded so strongly in favor of prohibition, it is to be hoped that the famous "clearing squad" will visit Hillcrest with real business intentions and with the interests of our community rather than the squad's pockets at heart. A friend of ours was heard singing, truthfully, the other night: "There's booze to the right of us; booze to the left of us; booze all around us—but who can you blame!"

On Thursday night, the 4th, a very enjoyable time was had at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Royle at Peaceful Valley, the occasion being a whist drive and house warming. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Mackie, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott, Mr. and Mrs. John Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Salt, Mr. and Mrs. A. Blackley and Miss Irene Turner. Mrs. Blackley and Percy Salt were first prize winners, while the booby prize fell to the lot of Miss Turner and Mrs. W. Prescott. After the game and cards, dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

For War-Stricken Europe

Organization for the Red Cross drive on Armistice day, when an appeal for funds for European relief will be combined with a campaign to raise $10,000 for specific provincial purposes, is now being completed in every city, town and rural community of Alberta where branches of the Red Cross Society are established. The Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, the Alberta Women's Institutes, The Women's Christian Temperance Union, the Navy League and other organizations have been asked to co-operate with the Red Cross in this special effort. The sums to be raised for use in Alberta have been earmarked for specific purposes. For Red Cross rural nursing service, hospital and ambulance fund, to be spent in outlying districts, $30,000 is required; for Red Cross homes for soldiers' children in Edmonton and Calgary, $30,000 will be set aside; $10,000 will go to the Red Cross Repatriation fund for relief of temporarily distressed soldiers, their wives and children; $15,000 for emergency relief in medical aid, clothing and food, in cases of sickness, epidemic or accident; and $10,000 for the preparation of instruction in first aid, for the provision of illustrated lecture lectures, education in public health, home hygiene and the combating of disease.

The methods of raising money in each district are left to the discretion of local branches.

Cowley Happenings

T. J. Cooper is now chief at the Cowley hotel.

W. H. Nickerson, of Vulcan, is here on business.

H. D. MacMillan is spending a few days in Calgary.

Mrs. Olin is a visitor in Pincher Creek at present.

Mrs. Brookwell was a recent Calgary business visitor.

Dr. Miller, eye specialist, of Calgary was in Cowley on Friday last.

The weather is somewhat colder this week, with squalls of snow from the north.

The provincial health inspector was here on Wednesday, making investigations.

Work on the Heath Creek extension of the provincial telephone is being rushed.

Wharf hauling is well under way, thanks to the open weather and good roads.

Wilbert Fortier is paying his parents an extended visit, after spending several years in the States.

Mrs. Lora Tustan and children came down from Blairmore on Friday to spend a few days here, and take in the dance on Friday night.

The school children are having a holiday here while Mr. Edgett and Miss McWilliams are attending the teachers' convention at Lethbridge.

On Sunday night Milton Robinson had the misfortune to be kicked by a horse, but not seriously, and will be confined to his home but for a few days.

A gang of carpenters are busy erecting a coal shed for the Alberta Pacific Grain Co., they having sold the other shed and elevator to the Doukhobor community.

Several local hunters returned recently from a deer hunt on the South Fork. They reported plenty of deer, but no bucks. Apparently a closed season for bucks would be in order.

On Tuesday evening a farewell party was given to Mrs. P. McEwan and Mrs. Clarence Gilmore, who intend moving to Blairmore shortly, to spend the winter. A pleasant time was spent.

Ralph Veitch was recently the victim of a painful accident, having been caught in the clutch of his gasoline tractor. His right arm was lacerated and scalp cut, and only that the clothing on his arm gave way, he might have received a very serious injury.

The large crowd which filled the hall here on Friday night tell of the success that the Luncheon Women's Institute had on this occasion. The night was ideal and everybody seemed to have a good time. A dainty lunch was served at midnight. The Pincher Creek orchestra furnished music.

The Teachers' Convention at Lethbridge is popular this term. Besides the Cowley teachers, Mrs. Olcott, of Tranter; Mrs. Harrison, of Olin Creek; Miss Anderson, of Tanner; Miss York, of Heath Creek; and Mr. Johnson, of Tennessie, are in attendance—a full representation of the district schools.

A. G. Swart, of the new Cowley Trading Co., was the unfortunate loser in the fire which occurred in Cowley on the 10th. Mr. Swart had shipped his household goods on ahead and had them placed in a dwelling on the Christie corner. In anticipation of his arrival with his family on the afternoon local, his brother, to warm the house, started the heater just before going to lunch, and it is believed that the fire which resulted and destroyed the house and several thousand dollars' worth of effects was caused by the stove becoming overheated. Owing to the fact that all the business people of the immediate locality were away to lunch, the fire recurred sufficient force of the local fire fighters prevented its spread to the adjoining large building occupied as a restaurant, the burning of which would probably have caused the loss of all buildings in the business section. The chemical engine was instrumental in preventing its spread.

"The water-powers of Alberta, valuable though they be, are nevertheless, limited both with respect to magnitude and situation. Owing to low-water conditions water-power must be augmented by power from other sources."

"Now, the great source to which Alberta must look for power is her coal. During recent years, the great advance made in the art of the production of steam-power is phenomenal. This advancement has given coal, as a prime agency for power development in competition with other prime agencies, almost a premier position. Those interested in the furnishing of power on a wholesale scale in Alberta must make their research into, and selection from, the achievements made in recent years in the field of power produced from coal."

In connection with this move for public or co-operative efforts towards well organized power-production and distribution, it is of interest to note a recent statement by Mr. J. G. Acres of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission:

"Under co-operative municipal ownership, a block of power delivered to the outgoing lines at Niagara is not valued by what it can probably be sold for, at so many dollars per annum, but by what it means to the individual citizen as an agency for increasing his comforts, convenience and general standard of living, and for facilitating increased commodity production. He sat down on a stool and started to unlace his moccasins, whistling an old tune beneath his arched brows. Boy arose and, walking to the window, gazed out across his kingdom. An owl was hooting from a distant thicket. Down in the deep shadow a fox called, and from the sheep-corn came the soft bleating of a late lamb. The chickens in the coop stirred and voiced their uneasiness. Outside on a well-worn spot a dog stretched himself, arose and sniffed the breeze, then assumed his former position.

Boy turned to the long cupboard near the hearth. "Seems I can't be myself these days," he said. "I forgot that you might be hungry after your tramp about to-night. Set up, Bill, and have a bit of turkey."

"He placed the carcass of a cold fowl on the table, and from the milk-house outside fetched bread and butter. Paisley drew his stool up to the table.

"Ain't you eatin'?" he asked. "Not hungry," answered Boy. "Seems I ain't like anythin' I used to be any more. All day long I've been thinkin' about a lot of no-count things that happened years ago. I think I've done and seen here in the bush. How I tramped with Dave 'cross the ridges and down through the wild blackberry patches. Why, Bill, it seems, some nights, when I'm in my awake, that I can see everything just as plain as if it were here. Last night I was listenin' to the rasher asleepin' against my skull. My arse was poked in 'n' bow and arrow painted was tied to it. I was trollin' with a live muskie, and the creek was a clear bottle-green. The pond's roots lay there six feet below me, and the bass swam in and out—y'know how it did before the mill was up, Bill?"

Paisley nodded and looked back over his shoulder. His mouth was full of turkey and bread. "And as they'll do again," he asserted in muffled tones of conviction. "I was gettin' down through the bushes," smiled Boy, "playin' and landin' 'em and enjoyin' it all. Dave was just as plain as if it were here. We all talked and laughed together. It was real, I tell you, Bill. It wasn't a dream, 'cause my eyes was wide open. That sort of thing scares me I don't understand it."

Paisley put his hand on Boy's knee. "I know what's doin' it all," he said. "I know just what it is. You're worryin'. That's what you're doin'. You shouldn't, 'cause Hall but his gang ain't goin' to get this bush, not by a danged sight. You're thinkin' that you won't fish no more like you used to; that you and Dave won't tramp together no more in your own little world. But you will. You'll always own it, Boy. You take old Bill's word for it, you ain't got nothin' to worry yourself sick about."

"Somehow I feel sort of helpless," sighed Boy. "Maybe I'm a coward, 'cause I feel like hidin'; only the light in me makes me keep to the open. You've seen a young partridge when you walked upon him, unexpected. The little beggar just grabs a leaf and turns over on his back, holdin' the leaf over his head. You and me know where he is, because we see that leaf movin' after a time; but nobody who ain't a Bushhacker could find him Bill."

"And like him, you naturally want to lay low, eh, Boy?" "Yes, as though I want to cover up; not because I'm scared, but 'cause it seems the natural thing to do. Then I get over that feelin' and the next thing I know I'm carryin' my rifle at full cock and keepin' a lookout. I don't know how this is goin' to end, Bill. I sure don't."

Paisley stood up. "Boy," he said earnestly, "you'd best be careful what you do. Don't you fire first. I ain't advisin' you to leave your rifle on the rack, but you know that as Bushhackers do, shoot to scare. Ammunition's too scarce for that. If you was to kill one of Hallbut's boys now, it would make things bad for us all."

"The traps ain't set and the rats have left their houses," said Boy drearily. "All along the creek are dead rats, and there's no use trappin' them. The ducks have left our shores and they've gone to the Point grounds. There's nothin' here, Bill, but the clash and buzz and whistle of that mill. The turkeys don't come on the ridges like they used to; the deer stay back in the swamps; and all through this woods these sounds are chasin' the fur and game further back. And now he's going to send his schooner after him. Think of it, Bill. He's goin' to sail across the bay and up Lee Creek for his lumber. Old Noah was here this mornin' and he told me. He's goin' to work for Hallbut, too, and I can't understand that."

"What's the old Injun goin' to do?" grinned Paisley. "He can't work—he's too old."

"He's goin' to watch the boat. It looks as if Hallbut's afraid we'll burn him. I don't know why he should think that, but Noah says it's better for him to be on the boat than any body else. And he's right. He didn't tell me much—you know what a silent old fellow he is. But I know he's been over to see Hallbut's Noah isn't against us; he thinks too much of Glos for that, but there's some thin' he knows that we don't know. I see him watchin' Glos a lot. I'd give good money to know just what's in his mind, Bill."

"Why, there's nothin' in his mind," Hallbut said. "Old Injun, do you want a job standin' watch on the boat? When I send her down among the Bushhackers, and Noah he says, 'Muck, muck,' Noah knows that he can watch Hallbut that was better than we can watch him. Of course, I don't mean to say Noah would be a traitor to any man he worked for—we both know he wouldn't. But he's there to watch things for us as well as Hallbut, Boy."

"Colonel Hallbut's comin' for his own," said Boy gloomily. "Paisley stretched his long arms. "Well," he laughed, "I've picked poises when bees have been workin' among 'em. They didn't molest me any—not then. Once, though, I dusted a little chap with flour and traiged him down to his tree. He was hungry for honey and wanted to hog it. When I started to cut down that beehive I found he was quite good friend among the posies, some thin' of a hell-terror when it come to protectin' his own. It learned me a lesson. Now, when I'm hungrier for honey, I get a piece of maple-sugar and rat that. We can't stop Hallbut from comin' up Lee Creek, but we can stop him from loggin' our homesteads out of us; so we won't worry much more. Come on, you and Boy. Mornin' will come right soon and we've a lot of traps to set."

Boy picked up the candle and led the way to the loft.

"My, but it's a grand place to stretch yourself out and enjoy rest," said Paisley, "and how low to come from bumpin' his head on the roof. You should sleep like a baby up here, eh, should?"

"I used to," said Boy. "Maybe I'll be able to again. It's restful all right, Bill, and I listen to the rain patterin' on the roof. In the summer the leaves play little tunes on the thatches. Once Joe chased a wildcat across the open and he treaded up here. I tried to scare him away, but every time I struck the roof on the inside he would spit and snarl out there on the outside. I had to get up and shoot him at last."

"Sure," said Bill. "He'd be a good hunter. He had stretched himself out on the willow bed, and already healthy as a horse, he was now a thin, leading him from the late lay into strange by-paths of dreams which he never remembered."

CHAPTER XVI.

Preparing For The Loggin'.

Next morning at break of day Paisley and Boy, laden with rat-traps, struck out toward the creek. But McTavish, accompanied them as far as the stable and gave them a parting send-off.

"If I had the chores done I'd go along and show you fellows how a real trapper sets a trap," he said banteringly, "but I hear old Buck and Bright askin' for their breakfast, so I can't go. I want that pair of oxen to be the best at Decide's loggin'."

They have a reputation to keep up. Don't think you can drive oxen any better than you can set rat-traps," returned Paisley. "Jim Peeler says his oxen can out-haul Buck and Bright any day."

And Decide says he never caught a single rat in the traps you set for him," scoffed Boy.

"Get along with you, you scamps," laughed the big man.

He passed into the stable and, slapping the hungry and expectant oxen lovingly, spoke to them as was his habit.

"Buck, you moon-eyed old beggar, I want you to pull to-morrow like you never pulled before. You heard what Bill said about Peeler's oxen? Well, Peeler can't out-pull me. I guess not."

He reached across the stall and patted Bright's broad shoulder. "As for you," he said, "course you do your best. If you don't, Bright, I won't feed you any corn for a whole day."

He filled the mangers with fragrant fodder and passed outside. The gloaming morning was shooting up above the fringe of Point Aux Pins. From the nine woods a billion dulle-red arrows of light were glancing, and, striking the bosom of Rond Eau, darting upward again toward a sullen arch of cloud where they clung and mingling with it, painted a glorious border of orange and crimson. A rooster, here on a stack of cornstalks, flapped his wings and proclaimed his gladness. Down in the second growth beeches a brood of feeding quail were whistling; and out above the creek a blue kingfisher stood poised, then dived, a streak of turquoise on the air, for the fish his bright eyes had sighted.

The birds looked at each other smiling and whispering to himself. At the dog kennel he peered and accented the note with a chuckle.

So you're tied up, eh? Wanted to follow the boys, did you, Joe? Well, we'll let you free now, so go where you please.

To Can Whitefish

Canning Will Give Industry An All Year Market.

Canada is to add whitefish to the world's appetizing canned foods. A factory for canning the whitefish of Northern Canadian lakes is to be established on Lake Athabasca, Alberta. Whitefish swarms in these northern waters, but owing to lack of transportation and refrigerating facilities, they supply only a winter market. They are taken in nets lowered through holes in the ice, where they are frozen in temperatures that make all outdoors a refrigerator. They are hauled on dog-sleds to the railway and shipped all over Canada. A United States market has been established in Chicago and other western cities.

In summer the industry is suspended because the fish spoil before they can be got to market. Living in ice-cold water, the whitefish of the Canadian north have a finer flavor than those of the more southern littles. Canning them will give the industry an all year market. Whitefish are one of the most extensively marketed of fresh-water fish. Vast quantities are taken in the Great Lakes and shipped all over Eastern Canada and the United States, even in summer.

Cotton Seed.

Cotton seed was treated as garbage in 1860; by 1870 it was being used as fertilizer; in 1880 its usefulness as food for cattle had been recognized; and in 1890 its potentialities as a table food were being advertised the country over. Now it is one of the most important of the sources of oils, varying from the clearest "olive" to the coarsest paint-oil.

Be An Optimist

Show Patriotism By Having Faith in Canada.

Canada is emerging from the after-war muddle with the sun of prosperity shining bright over her broad domain. Her barns are bursting with the foodstuffs for which the older countries hunger. Her gold and silver mines are pouring forth their riches. Her almost inexhaustible deposits are daily taking on new values. Her frozen north is seeping with oil that will feed the millions of autos for five hundred years to come.

Canada is coming back to normal—coming fast—coming also to a great period of prosperity.

Hasten its coming by downing your pessimism.

Prove your patriotism by becoming an optimist.—Toronto Telegram.

Palestine's Food Shortage.

The serious food shortage in Palestine has led the government to prohibit the export of cereals. From 400 to 500 head of Sudan cattle are being imported monthly by arrangement with the Egyptian and Sudan Governments. The army has ceased purchasing sheep and cereals from Palestine.

The largest edible oysters in the world are found in Australia. They measure sometimes more than a foot across the shell.

Protect Your Machinery

Loss Would Soon Pay For Erection Of Shed.

How many farmers would leave $25, $50 and even $100 in bills out in the open during an entire winter? Sounds absurd, but scores of such bills, in their equivalent of farm implements, are left in the shelter of the broad skies all the year. Few farmers who follow this practice do so with a realization of the great loss they are sustaining on the money invested. A hundred dollar machine left out of shelter over winter, means a loss of from five to fifteen dollars. At this rate it is quite evident that a machinery shed would be paid for in two or three years, even at present building costs.

The difference between a country youth and a city youth is that the former wants to know everything and the latter thinks he knows it all.

Manitoba's Wheat Yield

Average Yield, Per Acre For 1920 Given As Fifteen Bushels.

The average yield of wheat per acre in Manitoba for 1920 was 15 bushels, according to the final report of the department of agriculture for the year. Threshing is completed with the exception of a few fields of flax, according to the report. Much fall plowing has been completed and the land is in fine shape for next spring's work. The supply of winter feed will meet all requirements.

Following is a summary of conditions, as issued by George C. Batho, of the Manitoba Department of Agriculture:

"Threshing is practically all finished in Manitoba, although a few scattered lots of flax are yet unfinished. Now that threshing is done, reports of correspondents as to yields should be fairly accurate. The averages of all reports submitted are as follows: Wheat just below 15 bushels; oats, 33 5-6; barley, 22 1-10; flax, 8 2-5; rye, 16 1-5; potatoes just over 100. The potato crop is all dug.

"October has been a very fine month, and, on the whole, the conditions for plowing have been excellent, and a larger area—in some places a much larger area—than usual is plowed. Several correspondents report that summerfallows are particularly satisfactory.

New Head to Research Council.

It is stated that President McKenzie, of Dalhousie University, Nova Scotia, is the choice of the Dominion Research Council for the position of head of that body, left vacant by the resignation of Dr. MacCallum, who goes to McGill. If President McKenzie will accept the position, it is stated, he can have it. It is understood that Prof. McLennan, of Toronto, whose name has been prominently in connection with it, would not have accepted.

A Sympathy Swindle.

An Englishman has just been arrested in London for swindling the relatives of dead soldiers. His plan was to read the death notices in the papers and to write letters to any soldiers; that might be on the list, asking for gifts of clothing. The bereaved families, glad to do an act of charity to an "old friend" of their lost ones, would send the clothing and frequently important sums of money.—London Graphic.

Bottle Takes Long Journey.

A bottle cast into the Atlantic Ocean near Newfoundland by Sergeant D. McInnes, of Edmonton, when returning to Halifax, September, 1919, after shooting at Blisley, near Newport, Belgium, was found. The bottle contained a message from Sergeant McInnes to a Montreal paper. The finder of the bottle was Paul Vanthier, who mailed the message to Montreal.
